DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 3-5, 9, 14, 17, 21, 22-24, 28-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Buchanan 6,936,067. Buchanan discloses the invention as claimed comprising:

an artificial valve 40 for deployment within a vascular passage, the artificial valve including flexible material 3:55-56 and at least one frame element 10 ; said frame element 10 adapted for removal after deployment of said artificial valve in the vessel; and said artificial valve device configured to provide a valve function after removal of said frame element (see 7:39-53);

wherein the flexible material is remoldable, collagenous or ECM see 5:31-67 i.e. submucosa tissues;

wherein the frame element includes a member extending longitudinally along and circumferentially around the vascular passage after deployment and before removal (see element 44); which is non-removable;

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Buchanan in view of Buchanan et al. 6,074,418. Buchanan has been disclosed above however does not disclose the use of barbs. Buchanan et al. teaches the use of barbs.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize barbs/hooks because they are well known as additional securing elements that are capable of further securing the device to the area of the heart.

Claims 26-27 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Buchanan in view of Hojeibane 2003/0236568.

Buchanan has been disclosed supra but does not specify a coating on the frame or the use of paclitaxel. Hojeibane et al. teaches [0157] coating stent frames with drugs such as paclitaxel. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to take the stent frame of Buchanan and coat it with drugs such as paclitaxel in order to provide localized delivery to treat a wide variety of conditions and to enhance the function of the device.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6-8, 10, 15-20, 25, are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
